Teleradiology and Telemedicine Leader Offers Patients Low Cost, Second Opinion Service

Wednesday, 10 July 2013

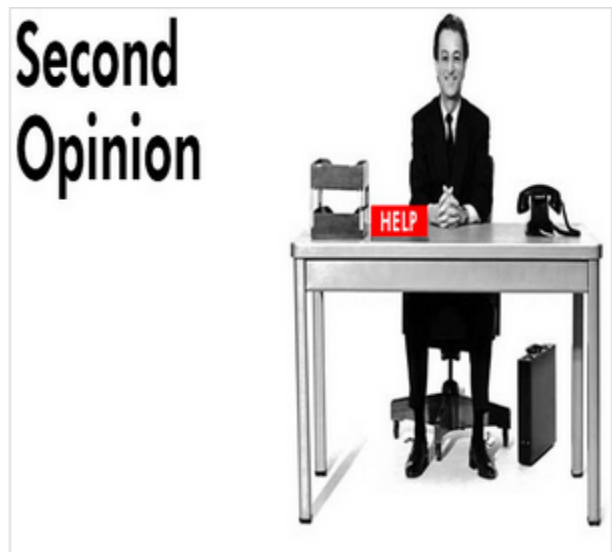

Based on a recent study carried out by the National Practitioner Data Bank that looked at 25 years worth of malpractice payments, it found that diagnostic errors are the leading cause of death due to medical errors. It approximated that 40,000 to 80,000 American citizens die every year due to misdiagnosis.

SecondOpinions.com puts global patients in contact with top-notch U.S. doctors in any given specialty or sub-specialties. After a few hours, patients receive a second opinion from a board qualified physician. Patients are required to upload their digital images (those from MRI, CT, etc) to a HIPAA regulated, secure, confidential platform and receive a detailed report in the comfort of their own home or in the office at work.

Getting a second opinion is loaded with several kinds of benefits. It diminishes any medical errors, keeps healthcare costs down by avoiding any superfluous surgeries or procedures, and most importantly saves lives.

Patients are encouraged to get a second opinion as it eases their nerves and gives them the assurance they need and deserve. Quality assurance methods like second opinions will soon be popularized under The Patient Protection and the Affordable Care Act, also known as Obamacare.

"Due to the complexity of radiology, it is essential for every patient who has an advanced radiological scan such as an MRI or CT scan to get a second opinion from subspecialist experts," said MBA Founder and CEO of SecondOpinions.com, Michael Yuz, MD.

Yuz heavily encourages patients to be well-informed of their condition, understanding the gravity of their health by seeking out and obtaining a second opinion. "It could be a matter of life or death," said Yuz.

SecondOpinions.com provides services that are both easily accessible and relatively inexpensive. The expediency and acknowledged benefits of the service is slowly gaining national attention.

According to a report, prices range anywhere from $29.00 to $99.00. No appointments are required, patients do not have to endure waiting days or weeks on end for a new consultation and the second opinion is received within hours of submission. In addition, expert subspecialist radiologists are available 24/7/365 in all 50 states.

Moreover, specialist and sub-specialist physicians in all medical fields provide second opinion consultations via telephone and video chat for as low as $49 per 5-minute consultation.

SecondOpinions has looked to join with other medical practitioners who are just as passionate in making sure a patient knows every minutia of their state of health.
